Hon. SIDNEY FISHER HERE AUGUST 16

The Minister of Agriculture will Meet the Farmers of the District

Learning that Hon. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion of Canada, would be in Alberta during the early part of August, the Lacombe Board of Trade got in touch with that gentleman, with the result that he will address a meeting of farmers here on the evening of the 16th, in the Opera House.

Questions of vital interest to the agriculturist will be taken up by the minister, and all who can should make a point to attend the meeting.

Further particulars will be given next week.

At the Council meeting last week, the town constable was "censured" for not collecting a license fee from the minstrel show here on celebration night. There is no censure coming to the constable in this case. A business man of the town became responsible for the license fee, and is prepared to pay it whenever it is demanded. It was thought by the celebration committee that the show was part of the celebration, and that no license fee should have been charged.

Game is plentiful in the wooded country near Snake Lake this summer. A day or two ago the writer saw three deer grazing in a meadow about a mile east of the lake, and a little further on a flock of partridges. Nearest town a number of game chickens and three or four wild geese were seen. It is hard to make any citizens believe this story, but there is no boom in the lake, and none in the rig.

Interest in the Western Globe and its coming very keen. Already eight entries have been received, and many others are expected. The first prize is on exhibition in the show window of Denike's Jewellery Store, and is a beauty.

We learn that Red Deer, our thriving little neighbor to the south, has a nice summer resort of her own. Several citizens of that place are holidaying at Snake Lake this summer.

The firm of Johnston & Co., general merchants at Clive (Valley City), has been dissolved. A. C. Johnston will carry on the business.

J. D. Skinner is locating in the new town of Gadaby, east of Stettin.

Eye examination is not a tedious or troublesome process, and we will give you straightforward and honest advice. Only when glasses are absolutely necessary do we recommend them.

ALIX NEWS

Everything points to the conclusion that the road to Bullockville and the south will shortly be practically closed. It is true that stakes are in the ground indicating that a roadway may some day be made, but lack of funds, or rather their diversion to other sections of the country whose residents are more in harmony with the powers that be, do not warrant the hope that it will be in good condition for years to come. And of our roads to the west? Roads of roads? They are a source of anxiety to the travelling public, and divert business to other quarters, and yet our merchants submit! The time will come, and that speedily, when an incensed public will demand justice at the hands of those responsible for the present state of affairs.

QUEER ANSWERS.

One frequently reads in the news papers, in the jokes column, the ridiculous answers given to examination questions, but we think the recent Standard V. examination report more fruitful than usual in that line. Here are a few gems.

"The brown race inhabit one-quarter of the people of the globe."

Ques—Are you coming with me?

Ans—"Are you surely coming with me? Because if you ask any young lady to come with you do not have to say sure after it, because they will give you your answer without."

Ques—Compare to—compare with; explain the difference.

Ans—"To compare to means to compare him to something else, as I was compared to a donkey."

Who was this candidate's teacher?

Example of indirect object. "He went indirectly to bed."

"Under Royal Government the Bishop was to stop all fast driving, look after stray dogs and church matters."

"St. John Macdonald paddled up the Mackenzie River and back to its mouth at Montreal."

The Statute of Laborers was an after event, when a gun was given to the men who were married and had children. This made some later very lazy. Later in the poor laws these went to the poor house."

THE PROBLEM OF ROADS.

The good roads convention at Leduc last week, brought to the front a subject which interests every community in Alberta whether urban or rural. One of the greatest hardships the pioneer settler of northwestern Canada has to contend against, is the lack of good roads. The very virtue of the land as a great crop producer is the reason for the bad roads. The mellow black loam that, with copious summer showers, produces phenomenal yields of grain, grass and vegetables is the very worst material for road-making, and yet it is practically the only thing available. Ever since Manitoba became a province and the North-West Territories were organized, one of the greatest problems of each successive government has been how best to improve the roads. Every conceivable plan of administration has been tried and each in turn declared a failure. When the central government has the matter in hand the people complain that someone has a political pull and they cannot get their roads improved. When the local improvement council have control of the funds the councillors are blamed for spending the money on the roads that they themselves or their particular friends were specially interested. When local improvement taxes are assessed with labor on the roads it is charged that many settlers simply kill time and cheat the district roads out of the honest work required to improve them. When the taxes are required to be paid in cash rather than labor, there is a tale of woe that the poor settler should be allowed to work out their assessment, and that it is not fair to import men to do the work while there are many in the district who would be glad to have the opportunity to work.

The government that will devise a scheme that will be satisfactory to all concerned and accomplish the end in view—the building of good roads throughout the country—will be a handy and worthy of office for life.

We notice that the delegates convened at Leduc found fault with the system of road building now in force in Alberta and that the Minister of Public Works acknowledged its insufficiency. The present system has been gradually evolved from the experience of legislators in this country in the last twenty years, and is probably the best that has yet been produced. There is a strong demand for the organization of rural municipalities such as have long existed in the eastern provinces, and the Hon. Mr. Cushing intimated that the government proposed introducing legislation to that end at the next session of the provincial parliament. It is to be hoped that the result will be a most satisfactory solution of the road problem even though it does not prevent the rainfall on the road allowances.

We are now looking forward to a solution of the road problem in northern and central Alberta through the development of the natural resources of the province. In California, crude petroleum from the numerous wells of the state is used extensively in road making and we have faith to believe that in the not far distant future, the same commodity will be available for use here. It has been proven beyond the shadow of a doubt that their own deposits of petroleum with an asphaltum base in the northern areas of Alberta. It is not yet known how far south these deposits exist but surface indications within a few miles of the twin cities lead to the belief that they lie beneath us. The drills of the oil prospectors are already at work delving into the depths of the earth, and if they are successful in tapping the reservoirs of petroleum they believe to underlie this district, they will uncover the cheapest and best of road-making materials. All that will then be necessary will be to round up the grades and saturate the surface with crude oil to make it impervious to the rain fall. It would undoubtedly take a long time and much expense to treat all the roads in the province that way, but it may be expected that at moderate cost the worst spots on the leading roads could be made permanently good. But this is only a dream of the future. In the meantime intelligent drainage and honest administration of the public works department are the chief means available for combating mud and water on road allowances.

BENTLEY NEWS.

We have finally discovered that Bentley is behind the times in advertising a celebration. He has followed the old fashioned custom of advertising only what we intend to show, and trying our best to show everything advertised. We have taken a cue, and hereafter, instead of advertising only the matches, wrestling matches, and perhaps a baloon ascension. The largest crowd of Blinman Valley people that ever celebrated outside our own valley, was in Lacombe on Thursday last. We all went to see the auto race and baloon ascension. Lacombe has a knack of drawing a good crowd and sending them home disappointed. Cash prizes paid out for base-ball and foot-ball matches, July 1st, Bentley $20.00. Cash prize paid for baseball match July 15th, Lacombe, $25.00. The show in the Opera House, Thursday night last, was very good, of its kind, and took well with the patrons, but the management was in no way connected with the management of the celebration. We did hear mention, by several people, "the Indian races were good" and we admit to the credit of Indians and management, they were good. The few dollars the Indians got were well earned and well spent. The question is, why did so many of the leading attractions of the celebration fail to materialize? Was the management at fault? First, in regard to Lacombe Deer failed to show up, perhaps there was no 2nd prize, or a guarantee of expenses. Secondly, the wrestling match advertised. There was no sign of one, we heard no explanation. Thirdly, the automobile race, for which they claim several entries were made, and a good race promised. The manager of this and the aeronaut with the entire equipment, was on the ground ready to make the ascent but the wind was too high, so they promised to pull it off in the evening, near the station, if the wind was favorable. After supper we went over by the station and found that the wind had lowered, but some of the celebration committee came around and told the baloon manager that if they couldn't make the ascent by 8:30, not to make it at all, and while hurrying to get the things up a guy pole broke, which would delay them past the given time so they were obliged to abandon it. With any encouragement from the committee they would have made the ascent, which so many people were waiting to see, but the celebration manager saw another chance here of saving a few dollars. Some of the Lacombe boys tried to get up a relay race, for a picked team vs. Lacombe Fire Brigade team, but as it was not on the programme they could get no purse offered for it. Could the baby race give fifty cents when a dollar was won? or the little race make five or a cheaper knife than the one you had rigged. Not they had to pay up what they promised, or be run out of town. But you could buy an admission ticket and a good stand seat, and see only a part of what you had paid to see, and not even get an explanation for the rest of it. How long can Lacombe draw crowds or get patronage for celebrations like this? They have good grounds, and a location that should get them crowds of from five to ten thousand people to their celebrations and fairs, if they would run them right for a few years and get back the satisfaction of the people.

A Great Country says Mr. West. "Potatoes in sixty days from the time I planted them is quick, and I'll bet any money this time cannot be beaten anywhere on earth," said Chester West, a prominent citizen, a day or two ago to a visitor from the States. "I have travelled all over Canada and the States," continued Mr. West, "and have yet to find a district to compare with Lacombe. You never hear of a crop failure around here, and our farmers and business men are all getting wealthy. If you want to locate in the garden of the North American continent, just buy a farm in this district, and you'll never regret it."

THE MAGIC MIRROR.

I went one night with my high-priced thirst to loaf in the booze bazaar, and as I sampled the old red drink I leaned on the handbar. My purse was full of the good long green, and my raiment was as smooth and new, and I looked as slick as a cabbage rose that's kissed by the nice wet dew. Behind the bottles a mirror stood, as large as your parlor floor, and I looked and looked in the shining glass, and wondered, and looked once more. My own reflection did not appear, but there where it should have been, I saw the form of a grunting bum, all crumpled and soaked with gin. His nose was red and his eyes were dim, unshorn was his avian face, and I thought it queer such a steady bo would come to so much of a place. I turned around for a better look at this effigy of despair, and nearly fell in a little heap, for the effigy wasn't there! The barkeep laughed. "It's the Magic Glass," he said with a cocking of his eye. "It shows a man how he's apt to look years hence when his roll is gone!"

Moved by Smith, seconded by Ellis that the meeting be adjourned to the 13th of November, 1909—Carried.

KILL THE WEEDS.

The Department of Agriculture at Edmonton is to be commended for its aggressive policy in dealing with the weed nuisance. The inspectors have been instructed to prosecute every farmer who allows noxious weeds to grow, after warning had been given. At Medicine Hat, the other day, heavy fines were imposed upon farmers who failed to carry out the orders of the inspectors. Farmers should value their land and their crops sufficiently to get rid of this pest voluntarily. One must conclude that the farmer who does not think enough of his land and crops to do so is not worthy to rank as a member of the farming community.

There are a number of bad collections of such as farmers in this district, and it is hoped that the farmers will appreciate the situation and get rid of them immediately. If not they can depend upon it that the inspector will bring them into court and they will have to pay fines that will mean more than the expense of getting rid of the weeds.

Eyesight Testing during the last fifteen or twenty years has undergone a complete transformation. From being a poorly understood science amongst a few who made extreme charges, it has evolved into the hands of the Optician who makes a specialty of it, just as the dentist does of the teeth. He not only knows how to test and correct eye errors, but he knows how and when to discriminate between this and diseased conditions which are always sent to the medical doctor where they belong. We need hardly say that we are in possession of this knowledge; besides this, we have equipped our optical department with the latest and best apparatus for aiding us to arrive at the most perfect results.
